A Most Valuable Agent.

The glycerine employed in Dr. Pierce's medicines greatly enhances the medicinal properties which it extracts from native medicinal roots and holds in solution much better than alcohol would. It also possesses medicinal properties of its own, being a valuable demulcent, nutritive, antiseptic and antiferment. It adds greatly to the efficacy of the Black Cherry Root, Bloodroot, Golden Seal root, Stone root and Queen's root, contained in "Golden Medical Discovery" in subduing chronic, or lingering coughs, bronchial, throat and lung affections, for all of which these agents are recommended by standard medical authorities.

In all cases where there is a wasting away of flesh, loss of appetite, with weak stomach, as in the early stages of consumption, there can be no doubt that glycerine acts as a valuable nutritive and aids the Golden Seal root, Stone root, Queen's root and Black Cherry root in promoting digestion and building up the flesh and strength, controlling the cough and bringing about a healthy condition of the whole system. Of course, it must not be expected to work miracles. It will not cure consumption except in its earlier stages. It will cure very severe chronic, hang-on, chronic coughs, bronchial and laryngeal troubles, and chronic sore throat with hoarseness. In acute coughing, it is not so effective. It is in the lingering hang-on coughs, or those of long standing, even when accompanied by bleeding from lungs, that it has performed its most marvelous cures.

Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., of Bennett Mod. College, Chicago, says of glycerine: "In dyspepsia it serves an excellent purpose. Holding a fixed quantity of the peroxide of hydrogen in solution, it is one of the best manufactured products of the present time in action upon enfeebled, disordered stomachs, especially if there is ulceration or catarrhal gastritis (catarrhal inflammation of stomach). It is a most efficient preparation. Glycerine will relieve many cases of pyrosis (heartburn) and excessive gastric (stomach) acidity."

Send to Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., for free booklet telling all about the native medicinal roots composing this wonderful medicine. There is no alcohol in it.

CAT SUFFOCATES BABY.

Over the fences and through the yards of houses in Scholes street, Williamsburg, N. Y., a big black cat roamed Wednesday night. It was cold, and the cat wandered from yard to yard seeking some place where there was warmth and shelter. At length it came to the rear-house at 173 Scholes street. In a window on the second floor about 6 feet from the ground was a hole. Johnny Sanders had driven a baseball through the pane in the afternoon.

The cat leaped from the ground, gained a foothold on the window sill, and crept through the hole into a bedroom. Sleeping in the bed were Mrs. John Sanders and her 9 weeks-old infant. The cat leaped lightly to the counterpane of the bed, stepped gently across the form of Mrs. Sanders, and nestled comfortably on the chest of the sleeping infant.

It was several hours later when Mrs. Sanders awoke at 5 o'clock with a premonition that all was not right. She threw her arm across the bed feeling for the baby that lay beside her. Her hand encountered a warm, velvety substance, and in a sudden fright the woman sprang out of bed. The cat which her touch had disturbed leaped up also, and sprang at the woman. Mrs. Sanders beat it off with her hands, and then managed to seize a broom that stood in the corner of the room.

The cat leaped at the woman, clawing at her nightgown, and trying apparently to reach her throat. Mrs. Sanders struck right and left with the broomstick, missing the cat as often as she hit it, while the cat continued to leap at her and claw at her. Mrs. Sanders continued the fight with the cat until at last she drove it out through the hole in the window through which it had climbed hours before.

Then Mrs. Sanders turned to the bed. Through her mind was running the old superstition that cats will inhale an infant's breath and thus suffocate it when ever they gain the chance.

She grabbed the baby and pressed it to her. The child's eyes were closed, and they did not open as the mother caressed her infant. Then Mrs. Sanders felt the child's cheek, against which she pressed her own. It was cold. Baby was dead, the cat having suffocated it.

ALLEGED PLOT.

Shouting "Where is Taft? I want to kill him," Thomas Thorp, an aged prospector, approached Policeman Gavera yesterday a few minutes after President Taft and party had reached Albuquerque, N. M. Thorp was arrested.

The Chicago Journal of yesterday declares that an anarchist plot, directed from Chicago by men planning to assassinate President Taft and President Dax at El Paso, today, has been discovered by secret service men. The Journal story proceeds:

"Chief Wilkie, of the Secret Service Bureau, has assigned many detectives to Chicago to learn the identity of the men selected to kill the two presidents. For the last two weeks, it was learned yesterday, meetings have been held by the anarchist groups in every large city of the country, but the assassination plans, according to government agents, were completed in this city. Four of Chief Wilkie's men disguised as laborers attended the socialist meeting in Chicago Thursday night, at which the execution of Professor Ferrer, in Spain was condemned."

The Journal declares secret service men have been brought to Chicago from Denver and other cities to assist in the investigation, and that others have been rushed to El Paso. It is asserted that the cancellation of a public meeting of the heads of the two governments at the advice of Chief Wilkie.

SHOT BY IRATE HUSBAND.

Harry Bland, aged 27, lying in City Hospital in Richmond seriously wounded by a pistol shot fired at him in a lot on the north side of Broad street adjoining the stock yards yesterday afternoon by H. T. Taber.

According to witnesses, Taber found Bland at his home when he went there for dinner yesterday. As Taber entered Bland is said to have left from the rear. Taber jumped into his buggy and followed the man. When he reached Broad street Bland was crossing the lot. Taber pulled his pistol and fired on Bland from behind. Bland dropped Taber then got out of his buggy and looked at the man to see whether he was dead. He waited a few minutes while several persons came upon the scene.

J. W. Daxler, a city employee at work on a steam roller, was one of the first to reach the scene. He asked Taber why he shot the man, and Taber replied: "Because he invaded my home. I have been after him for three years and that was the reason I did it."
